

```
In [1]: # import libraries
import numpy as np
import matplotlib.pyplot as plt
import skimage
import sklearn
```

```
In [2]: # Load and show original image

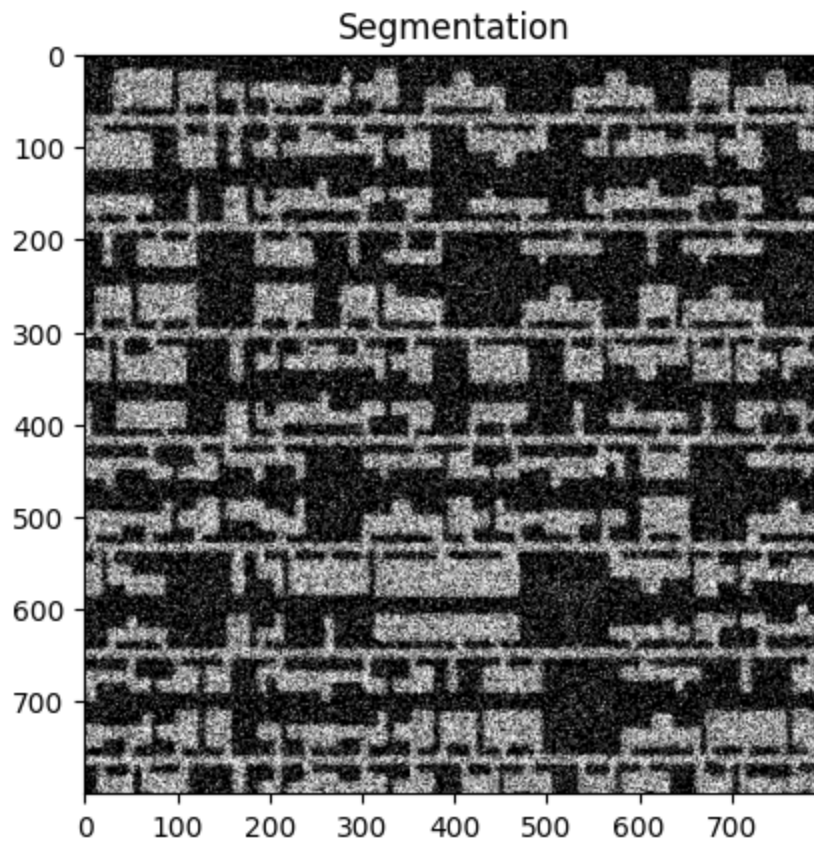

def imshow(img:np.ndarray, title:str):
    plt.figure()
    plt.imshow(img, cmap='gray')
    plt.title(title)
    plt.show()
    # print image statistics
    print('Type', type(img), img.dtype)
    print('Shape', img.shape)
    print('Range', np.min(img), '-', np.max(img))

original_image = skimage.io.imread('img_0.png') imshow(original_image, 'Original Image')
```

```
Type <class 'numpy.ndarray'> uint8
Shape (800, 800)
Range 0 - 255
```

```
In [3]: # basic segmentation - simple thresholding thresh = 120
segmentation = original_image > thresh
imshow(segmentation, 'Segmentation')
```

```
Type <class 'numpy.ndarray'> bool
Shape (800, 800)
Range False - True
```

```
In [4]: # Load and show ground truth ground_truth = skimage.io.imread('gt_0.png').astype('bool') imshow(ground_truth, 'Ground Truth')
```

```
Type <class 'numpy.ndarray'> bool
Shape (800, 800)
Range False - True
```

```
In [5]: # evaluation - IoU
import sklearn.metrics
iou = sklearn.metrics.jaccard_score(segmentation.flatten(), ground_truth.flatten())
print('Iou', iou)
```

```
Iou 0.4776222567824434
```

```
In [6]: # visualize results visualization = skimage.color.label2rgb(segmentation,
                                         original_image, ['yellow'])
imshow(visualization[0:100, 0:100], 'Result Overlay')
```

Type <class 'numpy.ndarray'> float64
Shape (100, 100, 3)
Range 0.002745098039215686 - 1.0